Welcome

From our fair family to yours, Welcome to the 2025 Washington County Fair!

Welcome to the 2025 Washington County Fair, the 135th year of the Fair. This year we celebrate 65 years at the current Greenwich / Easton location. Recognizing this milestone, our '25 theme is "Fair History – celebrating 65 years." So much has changed at the fairgrounds, and with our lives in general. But community involvement and agricultural importance remain, as strong values in our region.

We look forward to seeing you and your family at the Fair. If you have been attending for all 65 years, or might check us out for the first time, come and see all that is included in the Fair now!

Celebrating 65 Years in Greenwich, NY

The Washington County Fair is celebrating 65 years in the current location, Greenwich. We will recognize some people and organizations that have been there from the early days. Special 65th anniversary ribbons shall be presented this year to these special Fair supporters.

The Fair has evolved over the years, origins go back to a fairgrounds in Cambridge, and also a Junior Fair in Hudson Falls. The organizations joined together and moved to a site near the village of Greenwich and then shortly thereafter moved to the current location.

The organizations that have been active for 65 years include: Washington County 4-H Food Booth, Middle Falls Fire Company, The Sportsman Federation, Fort

The 4- H Food Booth, one of the first buildings built on the current Fairgrounds.

Miller Group, Pomona Grange, Cornell Cooperative Extension Washington County, Washington County Farm Bureau, and The Greenwich FFA. We sincerely want to thank them for their commitment to the Fair.

We also wish to recognize some original Exhibitors: Egdewood Farm - The Booth Family and Big Valley Farm – The Rouse Family. These families have brought both generations of people and cattle to the Fair, as dedicated exhibitors, thank you to them.

The First Aid Station is manned each day by a full staff of EMS personnel from all over Washington County. It is located near the Sheriff's building under the flag pole.

Special Needs

Accessible parking is available at all ticket booth areas. If you need a ride to your car or a ride to a location on the fairgrounds contact any gate attendant or fair staff for a courtesy ride.

WHEELCHAIRS: Southern Adirondack Independent Living Center will be offering wheelchairs on a first come, first serve basis. They will be located at the main gate entrance.

It's easy to get lost on the large and busy fairgrounds. Selecting a specific spot in advance is a good idea in case of separation. A particular gate or building is a better place than a larger site like a grandstand or amusement ride.

No Pets Allowed on the Fairgrounds

Health and Safety

The Washington County Fair asks visitors to follow posted signs and practice safe hygiene when visiting our Fairgrounds. Interacting with animals is an important part of the fair experience. Despite the many benefits of interacting with animals, people should be aware that animals can carry germs that make people sick.

Animal-borne disease can cause a variety of illnesses, from minor skin rashes to serious infections. Diseases that pass from animals to humans are called zoonotic diseases and can include E. coli, Salmonella and Campylobacter. Older adults, pregnant women, young children and people with weakened immune systems may be especially vulnerable. By following some simple health tips, you and your family are less likely to get sick from touching or being around animals at the Fair.

Fair visitors should wash their hands with soap and water before and after touching any animal and never eat, drink or put anything in your mouth while in an animal exhibit or contact area. We also encourage parents and caregivers to consider leaving strollers outside and carry small children when visiting in these areas.

Adults should supervise hand washing for young children making sure children wash hands properly with soap and water after interaction with animals. Use hand sanitizer if soap and water are not readily available. The Washington County Fair has Hand Sanitizer Stations located in primary areas on the Fairgrounds to supplement our rest room sinks. These stations are available in food areas as well as in animal contact areas.

Thank you to Glens Falls Hospital for providing Sunscreen Dispensers located throughout the Fairgrounds!

Head to the track to watch the youngest motorsport participants in our Power Wheel Derby. Children from ages 3 to 8 years old will compete in two heats, driving their battery-operated vehicles. The object is to pop the oversized balloons on their competitor's car. This derby is fun and picture worthy. Driver profiles include fun information like "He loves to play with farm animals, trucks and tractors in the mud. He loves to get dirty. His favorite animal is a piggy and his favorite food is watermelon," and "Lucas is in third grade and loves the color green. His favorite food is mac and cheese. Celebrating Washington County Agriculture!

Thousands flock to the Washington County Fair for animals, rides, entertainment—and of course, the food! Ever wonder where all those fries and milkshakes come from?

This year, many vendors are teaming up with local farms to serve up fresh, local ingredients. Look for signs at booths highlighting farms from right here in Washington County and New York.

When you grab that milkshake or fry bucket, you're not just enjoying fair food—you're supporting local agriculture too!

Career and Technical Education Day

Career and Technical Education (CTE) programs provide students who are hands-on learners an opportunity to master academic and technical skills within subject areas that interest them.

The Washington-Saratoga-Warren-Hamilton-Essex BOCES has sponsored Friday's events for this year's fair and will offer a full day of events featuring students demonstrating some of WSWHE BOCES CTE programs.

Maribeth Macica, the organization's senior public information specialist, said CTE programs are for students entering 11th and 12th grades from the 31 school districts within their five-county region. The students attend one of two technical education centers located in Saratoga Springs and Hudson Falls.

"They graduate with industry credentials that they can use to go on to college, a technical school or go straight into the workforce," Macica said.

The purpose of the CTE demonstrations is to spread the word about the 24 programs available through the WSWHE BOCES CTE program and to answer questions about what is available.

"We feel it is important to introduce parents to what their children can do in the coming years," Macica said. "Students will demonstrate the skills they have acquired at CTE to show the public what these programs are really all about and to give kids and their parents a preview of what they can do if they choose CTE."

So much attention has been given to the skills gap in the United States. The WSWHE BOCES CTE program is pleased to be doing its part in closing that gap by preparing the next generation of skilled workers and industry innovators. CTE allows students who know what they want to pursue to get a head start on their career field and allows those who haven't yet decided what their future holds to explore a variety of options.

"It's hands-on and exposes the students to these opportunities early," Macica said.

Students and instructors from the Washington-Saratoga-Warren-Hamilton-Essex (WSWHE) BOCES Career and Technical Education programs will host live, hands-on demonstrations throughout fair week. Visitors can explore skills in culinary arts, public service, trades and more, guided by the students themselves.

On Monday, Culinary Arts and Hospitality students will invite visitors to decorate cupcakes, offering a fun and creative start to the week. On Tuesday, Health Occupations students will guide participants in making slime models while teaching about blood. Animal Science students will share grooming and CPR techniques. Early Childhood Education students will lead crafts for young children, and Technology and Trades students will demonstrate automotive wiring using a circuit trainer.

On Wednesday, Culinary students will serve fresh salsa and watermelon fresca. HVAC students will showcase piping practices, while Automotive Technology students demonstrate diagnostic tools. Visitors can also try operating a mini excavator with guidance from Heavy Equipment students. On Thursday, Early Childhood Education returns with bubble play and wand-making. Health Occupations will repeat the blood activity. Construction Trades students will help build small projects, Cosmetology will offer hair wraps, and Welding students will demonstrate torch-cutting and share program info.

Friday is the big CTE Day at the fair. Demonstrations are held throughout the day in two-hour blocks. Auto Body students will demonstrate painless dent repair. The excavator returns with the Heavy Equipment program, HVAC continues plumbing demos, and Environmental Conservation students will show rope-climbing techniques and share CDL training opportunities.

The booth is open on Saturday and Sunday too. On Saturday, Culinary students will prepare grilled sourdough melts with house-made chips. Graphic Design will offer a T-shirt activity and program overview. The Early College Career Academy will explain how high school students can earn college credit at no cost. On Sunday, Culinary students will teach children to make crepes. Criminal Justice students will demonstrate fingerprint lifting. Auto Body students return with another repair session, and Horticulture students will guide boutonniere-making.

Stop by the CTE booth to check out all the fun. For more information about WSWHE BOCES CTE programs, visit www.wswheboces.org.

4-H offers opportunities for growth at the fair

Many young people in Washington County are looking forward to fair week! The Washington County Fair continues to offer 4-H members as well as all young people opportunities to grow through exhibiting projects, public presentations, showing animals or volunteering.

"We are all about building and developing youth into active and contributing members of their communities," said Cathy Sweet, the 4-H Positive Youth Development Educator for Cornell Cooperative Extension. "The Washington County Fair is a great platform for them to experience many of these opportunities."

4-H offers many activities through four pillars – Science, Technology, Engineering, Math; Healthy Living; Citizenship, Leadership; and Animal Science. Young people spend a great deal of time preparing for the fair each year. "While not all project work can be entered in the fair, youth can be very creative in exhibiting the new skills and knowledge they've gained throughout the year," Sweet said.

The range of youth participation is extensive.

Some members raise and show animals such as dairy and beef cows, chickens, rabbits, goats, sheep and pigs. Youth also showcase homegrown vegetables, baked goods and photography. The club exhibits are a good place to see what clubs have been doing over the past year. A recent addition is the Lego category, which is growing in popularity.

Another valuable experience gained within the exhibition process is communication skills as youth converse with their judges about their entries. Judges engage young people to talk about their projects, what they liked and what was challenging. "Part of their success," Sweet said, "is telling their story and what they learned to judges.”

All submissions are judged using the Danish System. Instead of first place, second place and so forth, this evaluation method focuses on recognizing what the children have accomplished based on age, years of experience and the amount of work dedicated to the project. Entries are then awarded blue, red, or white ribbons for excellent, very good and worthy.

However, if a child has nothing to enter, they are always welcome in other areas. Youth can volunteer in the 4-H Food Booth, be a junior superintendent or do an activity with fairgoers in the Youth Building. Anyone and everyone can get involved and play a role at the Washington County Fair.

The 4-H Food Booth is offering the usual fare along with submarine sandwiches, tossed salad from locally grown vegetables and homemade potato salad. The booth offers a full breakfast until 9:30 a.m. every morning. 4-H members and volunteers staff the shifts, but all are welcome to help out. It's a great community service opportunity.

“They work hard and gain valuable hands on food prep and customer service skills along with team work experience that can help them later when applying for jobs,” said Sweet.

The 4-H Ice Cream Booth is planning for another year at the Washington County Fair selling ice cream cones and milkshakes!

“The fair and 4-H provide young people with opportunities for growth and mastery, to become more independent, to share their generosity and experience a sense of belonging,” said Sweet. “Probably what they remember most are the relationships they form. Most youth love meeting people and making new friends.”

And what are the 4 H's? The answer is in the pledge: “I pledge my Head to clearer thinking, my Heart to greater loyalty, my Hands to larger service and my Health to better living; for my Club, my Community, my Country, and my World!”

Washington County Dairy Princess team will be busy at the fair

The Washington County Dairy Princess team is excited to represent the dairy industry at the Washington County Fair. Princess Layla Baldwin of Cambridge will lead the team of dairy advocates throughout the week. Alternate Princesses Madeline Rea of Salem and Megan DePaul of Argyle as well as a plethora of Dairy Ambassadors will join Layla at the Dairy Princess booth in the Ag Center where fair-goers can answer dairy-related questions and spin the wheel to win prizes. There will be dairy-related merchandise to purchase and even Aggie the incredible milking cow for everyone to try their hand at milking. Dairy product samples will be shared at various times for all to enjoy. The Dairy Princess team including the Dairy Ambassadors will be busy throughout the week working in the showring and at The Big Push. Friday night is highlighted by the famous milking contest where politicians and local celebrities will challenge each other for the coveted golden milking stool. Sunday will feature a visit from the New England Dairy Association Milk Bar with free samples of milk.

When not in their crown and tiaras you can find the Dairy Princess team throughout the fair. Layla and Megan will be busy showing their dairy animals while Mady is busy showing her beef cows. Each of the princesses are also very involved at the FFA Farmland throughout the week.

The Washington County Dairy Princess program is thankful for the funding received from the local agricultural industry to promote the dairy industry.

The Big Push Birthing Center

THE BIG PUSH

Saturday, August 23 and Sunday, August 24

Witness the miracle of life unfold, at The Big Push Birthing Center at the Washington County Fair featuring Landview Farm. Landview Farm in White Creek NY, is operated by the Walker Family

Visitors to The Big Push Birthing Center, located inside the dairy judging tent, will get a first-hand look at the beauty of new life that farmers get to see on their farms many times throughout the year. Visitors will have the opportunity to learn how our cows are cared for and how we raise them to be strong and healthy.

The Big Push Birthing Center is staffed by volunteers experienced with caring for dairy cows. They will answer questions from visitors and will keep the animals comfortable and safe.

An experienced herdsperson and a veterinarian are on staff to assist the cows with the birthing process.

The Big Push Center will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. It is our hope to have a total of six births over the weekend, but much will depend on Mother Nature.

This is a free exhibit for fairgoers of all ages and gives them the opportunity to witness the miracle of life unfold.
