Welcome

From our fair family to yours, Welcome to the 2026 Washington County Fair!

Welcome to the 2026 Washington County Fair, the 136th year of the Fair. This year we celebrate the important role that draft animals have played in our agricultural heritage. For generations, horses, oxen, mules, and other working animals have been valued partners on our farms, demonstrating the strength, dedication, and teamwork that helped build our communities. While farming has evolved over the years, the traditions and values these animals represent continue to be an important part of our region.

We look forward to seeing you and your family at the Fair. If you've made the Fair a family tradition for years, or are planning your very first visit, come and experience everything the Washington County Fair has to offer. From agriculture and livestock to entertainment, exhibits, competitions, and great food, there is something for everyone to enjoy.

The Washington County Fair Opens Monday, August 24th at 5 p.m.

250th American Anniversary

America Celebrates 250 Years

Walk through history in our Fair Farm Museum

As America celebrates its 250th anniversary in 2026, communities across the nation are honoring the traditions that have shaped our country's history. Few traditions reflect America's agricultural heritage better than the county fair, where generations of families have gathered to celebrate farming, craftsmanship, and community.

At the heart of the Washington County Fair in Greenwich, New York, the Farm Museum brings that history to life. Visitors can step back in time as they explore historic farm equipment, a restored one-room schoolhouse, a summer kitchen, and exhibits that showcase rural life in the 19th and early 20th centuries. The museum preserves the stories of the hardworking farm families whose dedication helped build both Washington County and America.

As we commemorate 250 years of American independence, the Washington County Fair Farm Museum reminds us that our nation's story is not only found in history books, but also in the fields, barns, and communities that continue to preserve our agricultural legacy for future generations.

A Blue Ribbon For The Fair

An excerpt from the Wednesday, August 29th, 1962 Greenwich Journal

Who would have thought, ten years ago, that the county fair would make a comeback? But it has.

Washington county now has a fair which can be compared favorably with almost any fair in the state, and it is still small enough so that there's a cozy, neighborhood feeling about it. The fair has come a long way in the last ten years, and it gives every promise of continuing to grow and improve.

The best thing that happened to the fair, of course, was having its own grounds where permanent buildings can be erected, and improvements made. No longer is the fair just a carnival, with a scattering of entries by a handful of exhibitors. It is a full-fledged exposition, with people from all parts of the county entering exhibits, taking part in its programs.

The revival of the fair can be credited to a host of people throughout the county who have in many ways done their bit to support the venture. Such a complicated endeavor as the fair doesn't just happen. It requires a lot of planning and a lot of good hard work, and fortunately for the Washington county fair, the brains, the brawn, the willingness and the enthusiasm were all there, and so the fair is a growing success.

The fair of today hasn't changed a great deal from the fairs we remember in our youth, and that we suppose is because there is a conscious effort to retain many of the features of earlier fairs. The atmosphere is much the same - folks visiting over the rump of a cow and across a table of canned fruits.

The small county fair such as we now have and can take pride in, is fun, we think, because of its relaxed air. It's really a social event for us all. We go to look over the exhibits, and wander up the midway, but we really enjoy most seeing the other folks there and visiting with them. There's no other gathering where we'll meet so many friends we may not have seen in a long time, and see such a cross section of people.

Everyone who has had a part in the revitalization of the Washington county fair deserves a blue ribbon. It's a great thing for our county.

Health & Safety

The Washington County Fair asks visitors to follow posted signs and practice safe hygiene when visiting our Fairgrounds. Interacting with animals is an important part of the fair experience. Despite the many benefits of interacting with animals, people should be aware that animals can carry germs that make people sick.

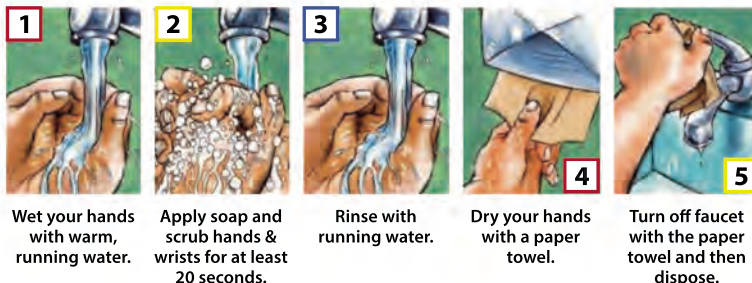

Animal-borne disease can cause a variety of illnesses, from minor skin rashes to serious infections. Diseases that pass from animals to humans are called zoonotic diseases and can include E. coli, Salmonella and Campylobacter. Older adults, pregnant women, young children and people with weakened immune systems may be especially vulnerable. By following some simple health tips, you and your family are less likely to get sick from touching or being around animals at the Fair.

Fair visitors should wash their hands with soap and water before and after touching any animal and never eat, drink or put anything in your mouth while in an animal exhibit or contact area. We also encourage parents and caregivers to consider leaving strollers outside and carry small children when visiting in these areas.

Adults should supervise hand washing for young children making sure children wash hands properly with soap and water after interaction with animals. Use hand sanitizer if soap and water are not readily available. The Washington County Fair has Hand Sanitizer Stations located in primary areas on the Fairgrounds to supplement our rest room sinks. These stations are available in food areas as well as in animal contact areas.

Handwashing

THE BEST WAY TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF GERMS!

Remember to wash your hands whenever they are dirty.

Thank you to Glens Falls Hospital for providing Sunscreen Dispensers located throughout the Fairgrounds!

WHERE MEMORIES TAKE FLIGHT

Bringing World-Class Midway Excitement to the Washington County Fair Since 1939

Amusements of America is one of the nation's leading carnival operators and one of the largest traveling amusement companies in the United States. Founded in 1939 by the Vivona family, the company has built a legacy of delivering exciting rides, family entertainment, delicious midway food, and classic carnival games throughout the eastern U.S.

FUN FOR EVERY GENERATION

From spectacular thrill rides to family favorites and kiddie attractions, Amusements of America offers something for every age. Each event features a unique selection of rides, so attractions may vary by location. Whether you're chasing adrenaline or making memories with the family, the midway has something for everyone. All rides are rated for thrill levels from 1 (low) to 5 (extreme).

COMMITTED TO SAFETY

Safety is Amusements of America's highest priority. Every ride is inspected daily by trained safety professionals and undergoes regular inspections to meet state and local regulations. During the off-season, all equipment is thoroughly inspected, tested, and maintained at the company's winter headquarters in Florence, South Carolina.

Washington County Agriculture is the Heart of the Fair

Agriculture has always been at the center of the Washington County Fair. Every year, local farmers bring their livestock, crops, and agricultural products to share with the community and celebrate another season of hard work.

As you explore the fairgrounds, stop by the barns, visit the agricultural exhibits, and take a moment to learn about the farms that help shape Washington County. Many of the foods and products you enjoy every day begin with the people and families who work the land right here at home.

The fair is a chance to connect with local agriculture, support area farms, and appreciate the tradition and dedication that continue to make farming an important part of our community.

We love our local farms!

WSWHE BOCES Career & Technical Education

WSWHE BOCES invites fairgoers to visit its booth throughout the week at the Washington County Fair to experience hands-on activities, meet students and instructors, and discover the many programs, services and career pathways available through WSWHE BOCES.

Visitors can explore the WSWHE BOCES STEAM Bus, a mobile learning lab that brings interactive science, technology, engineering, arts and mathematics (STEAM) experiences directly to schools.

Serving students from 31 school districts across Washington, Saratoga, Warren, Hamilton and Essex counties, WSWHE BOCES offers 24 Career and Technical Education (CTE) programs at its education centers in Saratoga Springs and Hudson Falls. Students gain hands-on experience, earn industry-recognized credentials and college credit, preparing them for employment, apprenticeships or continued education after high school.

All week, current students will showcase the skills they've learned through live demonstrations, giving families an inside look at the wide range of career pathways available through WSWHE BOCES. Staff will also be available to answer questions about the Vision 2027: Future Focused Facilities project, the new instructional campus currently under construction in Wilton that will open to students in fall 2027.

WSWHE BOCES is proud to sponsor Friday's events at the Washington County Fair, featuring a full day of CTE demonstrations. Throughout fair week, students and instructors will host live, hands-on activities showcasing a variety of CTE programs. Visitors can stop by to see CTE in action and learn more about the opportunities available through WSWHE BOCES.

MONDAY: Culinary Arts and Hospitality students invite visitors to decorate cupcakes, offering a fun and creative start to fair week.

TUESDAY: Auto Body Repair students will demonstrate plastic welding techniques. Families are also invited to visit the CTE booth for a Teddy Bear Clinic. Children will help check in their teddy bear, complete a health evaluation, learn the diagnosis and provide treatment with the help of Health Occupations students. It's a playful way to explore healthcare while helping children feel more comfortable with medical visits. The first 40 participants will receive a teddy bear.

Cosmetology students will also demonstrate braiding techniques and offer colorful hair wraps.

WEDNESDAY: Horse Care students will be available to discuss their program, while Culinary Arts students will lead a cooking demonstration.

This day is also Walk-In Wednesday at the Fair. The WSWHE BOCES Human Resources team will be available from 1 to 3 p.m. to discuss current job openings. Visitors are encouraged to bring their résumés to apply for positions and complete preliminary screenings.

THURSDAY: Early Childhood Education students will lead crafts for young children while parents can learn about WSWHE BOCES' two free, student-run, instructor-supervised pre-school programs.

Construction Trades students will help visitors build small projects, and Health Occupations students will guide participants in creating slime models while teaching about blood.

FRIDAY – CTE DAY: Friday features a full day of Career and Technical Education demonstrations held in two-hour blocks. Auto Body Repair students will demonstrate plastic welding techniques. Automotive Technology students will offer live demonstrations using a Camaro engine and explain the ins and outs of brake pads. Criminal Justice students will demonstrate fingerprint lifting, while HVAC students will lead piping demonstrations. SATURDAY: Horticulture students will guide visitors in making boutonnières, Culinary Arts students will lead a cooking demonstration, and Automotive Technology students will return with another Camaro engine and brake pad demonstration.

New this year is a demonstration by the Industrial & Performance Machining program. Visitors can explore this high-tech program, which focuses on equipment programming and the precision machining of component parts for automobiles, performance vehicles, industrial machinery and more.

SUNDAY: Culinary Arts students will teach children how to make crepes. Representatives from the Early College Career Academy will explain how high school students can earn college credit at no cost, and Animal Science students will demonstrate animal grooming and pet CPR techniques.

Fairgoers are encouraged to stop by the WSWHE BOCES booth to experience hands-on activities, meet students and staff, explore career opportunities and learn more about the future of Career and Technical Education in the region.

For more information about WSWHE BOCES Career and Technical Education programs and the Vision 2027: Future Focused Facilities project, visit wswhiboces.org.

Washington County Dairy Princess team will be busy at the fair

The Washington County Dairy Princess Team is excited to represent the dairy industry at the Washington County Fair! Princess Erin Carney will work with Alternate Princesses Madison Baldwin and Madison Snow to lead the Ambassadors at their booth in the Ag Center. Fair-goers will have the opportunity to spin a wheel and answer dairy-related questions for a prize, purchase Dairy Princess merchandise, and try free samples of various dairy products. Aggie, the robotic cow, is located next to their booth, where you can try your hand at milking, or swing by the milking parlor watch area to see farmers milk their cows with live commentary.

Outside of the Ag Center, you can find the Dairy Princess Team in the Dairy Cattle Show Tent. They will be handing out ribbons and prizes during all dairy cattle shows throughout the week. On Friday night, the team will host their annual Milking Contest, where politicians and local celebrities will compete for the coveted golden milking stool. Saturday and Sunday, they will help other volunteers answer questions at the Big Push, a dairy cattle birthing center that allows fair-goers to witness firsthand calves being born. Sunday will feature a visit from the New England Dairy Association Milk Bar with free samples of milk.

The Washington County Dairy Princess Program is grateful for the support from the local agricultural community and looks forward to another successful fair week, advocating for the dairy industry!

4-H Offers Opportunities for Growth at the Fair

Many young people in Washington County are looking forward to fair week! The Washington County Fair continues to offer 4-H members as well as all young people opportunities to grow through exhibiting projects, public presentations, showing animals or volunteering.

"We are all about building and developing youth into active and contributing members of their communities," said Cathy Sweet, the 4-H Positive Youth Development Educator for Cornell Cooperative Extension. "The Washington County Fair is a great platform for them to experience many of these opportunities."

4-H offers many activities through four pillars – Science, Technology, Engineering, Math; Healthy Living; Citizenship, Leadership; and Animal Science. Young people spend a great deal of time preparing for the fair each year.

"While not all project work can be entered in the fair, youth can be very creative in exhibiting the new skills and knowledge they've gained throughout the year," Sweet said.

The range of youth participation is extensive. Some members raise and show animals such as dairy and beef cows, chickens, rabbits, goats, sheep and pigs. Youth also showcase homegrown vegetables, baked goods and photography. The club exhibits are a good place to see what clubs have been doing over the past year. A recent addition is the Lego category, which is growing in popularity.

Another valuable experience gained within the exhibition process is communication skills as youth converse with their judges about their entries. Judges engage young people to talk about their projects, what they liked and what was challenging. "Part of their success," Sweet said, "is telling their story and what they learned to judges."

All submissions are judged using the Danish System. Instead of first place, second place and so forth, this evaluation method focuses on recognizing what the children have accomplished based on age, years of experience and the amount of work dedicated to the project. Entries are then awarded blue, red, or white ribbons for excellent, very good and worthy.

However, if a child has nothing to enter, they are always welcome in other areas. Youth can volunteer in the 4-H Food Booth, be a junior superintendent or do an activity with fairgoers in the Youth Building. Anyone and everyone can get involved and play a role at the Washington County Fair.

The 4-H Food Booth is offering the usual fare along with submarine sandwiches, tossed salad from locally grown vegetables and homemade potato salad. The booth offers a full breakfast until 9:30 a.m. every morning. 4-H members and volunteers staff the shifts, but all are welcome to help out. It's a great community service opportunity.

"They work hard and gain valuable hands on food prep and customer service skills along with team work experience that can help them later when applying for jobs," said Sweet.

The 4-H Ice Cream Booth is planning for another year at the Washington County Fair selling ice cream cones and milkshakes!

"The fair and 4-H provide young people with opportunities for growth and mastery, to become more independent, to share their generosity and experience a sense of belonging," said Sweet. "Probably what they remember most are the relationships they form. Most youth love meeting people and making new friends."

And what are the 4 H's? The answer is in the pledge: "I pledge my Head to clearer thinking, my Heart to greater loyalty, my Hands to larger service and my Health to better living; for my Club, my Community, my Country, and my World!"

RESILIENCE GROWS HERE.

Matthew, 4-H Gardening

The Big Push Birthing Center

THE BIG PUSH

Saturday, August 29 and Sunday, August 30

Witness the miracle of life unfold at The Big Push Birthing Center at the Washington County Fair, featuring Tiashoke Farm.

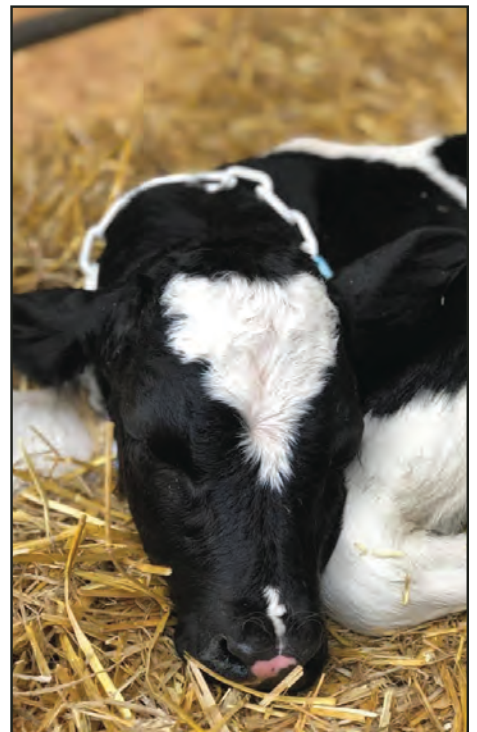

Visitors to The Big Push Birthing Center, located inside the Dairy Judging Tent, will get a first-hand look at the beauty of new life that farmers experience on their farms throughout the year. Guests will have the opportunity to learn how dairy cows are cared for and how calves are raised to be strong and healthy.

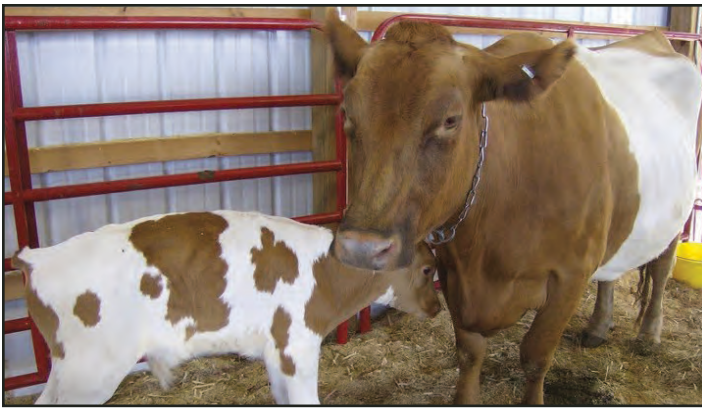

The Big Push Birthing Center is staffed by volunteers with experience caring for dairy cattle. They are available to answer questions and ensure the animals remain comfortable and safe throughout the event.

An experienced herdsman and a veterinarian will be on hand to assist the cows during the birthing process if needed.

The Big Push Birthing Center will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. We hope to welcome up to six births over the weekend, although the schedule is always up to Mother Nature. This free exhibit offers fairgoers of all ages a unique opportunity to witness the miracle of life firsthand.

CLIENT REVIEW

A gentleman stopped here because he was having breakfast with his grandchildren this morning and saw our ad on the (NYVT-TV Ad Network) TV. He said, "Hey, they sell fishing licenses! Let's stop there and get them."

He told us it was a nice ad and a good idea about the advertisements.
